This flowchart outlines the processes used by the Animal Care & Use Program to determine the appropriate containment housing level(s) for study teams using hazards in their animal studies at the University of Michigan.

Note that safety level(s) for hazard handling and administration to animals may be different from the animal housing requirement.

Questions about animal containment housing at the University of Michigan should be directed to the Unit for Laboratory Animal Medicine (ULAM) at ulam-questions@umich.edu or (734) 764-0277.